

Table of contents

Introduction	3
Part 1: Introduction to Creativity and Innovation	6
Creativity and Innovation as Concepts	6
The Knowledge Concept (Data, Information, Knowledge, Wisdom) and Different Forms for Knowledge Development	7
Exchanging Information	7
Creativity at an Individual Level	8
Perceptual Filter	8
Positivity	8
Acknowledgement	9
Dialogic Curiosity	9
Tacit Knowledge	9
The Relationship between Innovation and Knowledge Development	10
Discussing How Different Forms of Knowledge Development Affect Creativity and Innovation	11
The SECI Model	11
Collective Reflection	12
Creative Problem Solving at the Group Level	13
Involvement	14
Large Scale Change Management	14

Table of contents

Part 2: Diversity Icebreaker and Red, Blue and Green in Creativity and Innovation processes	15
Introduction	15
Step one: Diversity Icebreaker as a Trust-Builder Contributing to Open Communication	17
Step two: Creating shared contextual knowledge of yourself and others	19
Practical questions	19
Step three: Communicative practices that promote new knowledge	21
Three interaction forms leading to creation of new knowledge	21
Form one: The first form is based upon the process where ideas and perspectives from one person influences the other	22
Mirroring	22
Inter-disciplinary import	23
Cross-disciplinary control	23
Form two: The second form is when many perspectives are in action in a systemic way in relation to each other	24
Poly-disciplinary activities	24
Multidisciplinary Gestalt	24
Trans-disciplinary modes in time	24
The third form is when new ideas emerge and where you cannot see a logical connection to the earlier perspectives. This can often lead to radical new ideas, or ideas that break with prevailing thinking	25
Radical innovation	25
Practical questions	26
From monologues to dialogues to trialogues	27
An introduction to an observer of the development of relationships	28
How to use this in training of communication?	28
How can you use this to open up a locked situation between groups?	28
In DI workshops	29
Step four: High quality creative problem solving with Red, Blue and Green	30
Training	31
Step five: Implementation and Follow-up as a Joint Collective Reflection for Learning	32
Collective Reflection	33
Part 3: The Diversity Icebreaker and Human Factors AS	34
References	37

